

Vermont Housing and Conservation Board

GUIDELINES FOR THE AWARD OF ASSOCIATED COST GRANTS FOR AGRICULTURAL CONSERVATION PROJECTS

The Board's enabling legislation encourages the use of private or other funding sources in completing eligible projects. It is the policy of the Board to leverage, to the greatest extent possible, other sources of funding so that the public funds available to the Board can be used to complete the greatest number of eligible projects. While the Local Conservation Program is the only VHCB program with a prescribed match requirement, the Board encourages leverage on all types of projects including the donation of in-kind services, cash, bargain sales, land or easements. At the same time, the Board recognizes the need to cover reasonable associated costs for those projects which are unable to access additional funding sources. The Board may award grants for the purpose of developing projects and to cover reasonable associated costs based on the following guidelines.

PRE DEVELOPMENT GRANTS

1. Project Feasibility Fund

Staff may approve grants of up to $10,000 from the Project Feasibility Fund to assist in the early phases of project development. General planning projects are not eligible for these funds. (See Project Feasibility Fund Policy.)

2. Project Related Capacity Grants

In unusual circumstances, when funds are needed to support staff and to conduct feasibility work prior to submitting an application for project funding, the Board may grant eligible applicants a Project Specific Capacity Grant. Applicants must be able to demonstrate to VHCB staff satisfaction that site control has been secured prior to the award of feasibility funds. General planning projects are not eligible for these funds. (See Organizational Development Grants Policy)

3. Farm Appraisal Fund

Staff may approve grants to share the cost of the appraisal of a farm project that has been approved by the Board as a pre-application.

FARMLAND CONSERVATION ASSOCIATED COSTS GRANT GUIDELINES

The Board encourages applicants to provide in-kind services to the greatest extent possible and encourages the use of other sources to fund associated costs. The amount of other funding sources or the extent to which VHCB funds have leveraged donations of services or interests in land may improve the chances of being funded by the Board.

Associated costs include staff costs, legal and closing costs, and the costs of mapping and documentation. Additional line items such as surveys or management plans may be approved when the Board finds such work is required to complete a project.

Farmland projects of statewide significance are eligible for associated costs of up to $16,000. Local farmland conservation projects are eligible for associated costs of up to $14,000. Both statewide and local farmland conservation projects are eligible for up to $9,500 for Stewardship costs.

VHCB staff will have the flexibility to recommend additional funds on projects that are particularly complicated (such as those with complicated titles, multiple parcels, multiple towns or similar complications).

The Board will use these fee levels as a guideline and reserves the right to evaluate all project requests on a case-by-case basis.
